

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0078] The present invention provides modular building panels and building block play systems incorporating the panels, which enable the building of life-size play structures. In one embodiment, a modular building panel includes a blow molded base having a top wall and a bottom wall, a first cover attached to the blow molded base over the top wall, and a second cover attached to the blow molded base over the bottom wall, the second cover having peg-receiving components.
